

MESSAGE FROM THE DIRECTOR

The Planning Service is pleased to present to the public its official website.

For several years now, the Planning Service is known to be the official source of accomplishment reports and various CARP data. The DAR management, CARP implementing agencies, national government agencies, civil society organizations, people's organizations and researchers are some of our regular clients who have utilized these information for their research, planning, monitoring and decision making needs. To cover a wider range of audience, we endeavoured to develop our own website. The site is an effort of the Office to disseminate valuable information pertaining to CARP implementation as well as supplement updates on the Department's activities in other areas of concern.

As Planning Service moves forward to the challenges of time, it also aims to popularize information by translating them into knowledge "nuggets" that captures DAR's efforts in contributing to the country's poverty alleviation and social equity programs.

We hope that this site serves as an avenue for further knowledge sharing and diffusion. Comments and suggestions to improve our services are most welcome.

We look forward to hearing from you. In the mean time, enjoy surfing.
